If the column column-1 is less than the current column, then we can ignore it.

"The highest number for each group is given in column 1, while "0" in column 2 indicates that no other number in the group is greater than the one in column 1.

If the highest frequency in this sample is less than 20, enter "20".

The Highest Honor Prejudice, and for a total of independent or the best and most collection of information is required. The number of the highest number found in the collection is required.

This collection of information is required by 37 CFR 1.16. The information is required to obtain or retain a right to the public distribution of the patent and for the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office to issue a certificate of title. It is also required to make it possible to complete the application for a patent or to make a reference to the application in a document or record. It is not required to make a reference to the application in a document or record.
